

Monday 21st September
9am EDT
New York

Press Announcement

Citycom is delighted to announce a new and exciting partnership with Market Communications, LLC, a New York based solutions and services provider for the Financial Services global marketplace. Market Communications experience and credibility in the US; Financial Services, Banking, Energy and Higher Education markets provides a perfect partnership for Citycom's solutions and services. Their knowledge and understanding of the challenges that customers are facing in today's ever evolving world, coupled with their world class service culture, provides Citycom with a great complimentary partnership.

As Citycom's Master Distributor in the US, Market Communications will distribute our solutions and services to market directly, as well as working with their reseller community to find and deliver opportunities for our growing number of solutions.

About Citycom Solutions

Citycom provides solutions and services that help global organisations fulfil their regulatory requirements. In our constantly changing world, communications are fast becoming the most valued asset any business owns, providing knowledgeable insights into activity, behaviour and culture.

Citycom supports businesses with the challenge of capturing, controlling and analysing communications interactions, helping to improve performance and profitability. We improve management control as well as, surfacing any conduct risk issues.

About Market Communications

Market Communications founded in 1998 and headquartered in New York is recognized by global businesses as a trusted technology advisor and partner. We provide technology advisory services for total communications solutions, that assist businesses, to realize the value of their most underrated and ignored asset.....voice communications.

In our ever-changing world of communications, companies are realizing the importance of having a flexible voice communication system, that will keep their communications flowing under any situation and condition. Market Communications provides solutions for Trading from anywhere, Hosted PBX, Cloud Networking and Hosted Recording.

We have an established network of best-of-breed partners combining our experience, knowledge and expert-level subject matter professionals. This ensures that we guide our clients through the process of selecting the products and services best suited to meet their communication requirements. We advise clients in all aspects of restack and relocation projects, technology upgrades and can provide partners to assist a client in all aspects of their project.

Market Communications have provided solutions to Financial Institutions with the challenges of capturing, controlling and analyzing voice conversations to improve performance, profitability and management control as well as evaluation of potential risk issues. The company has diversified its solution suite to address its client's requirements in Compliance with the regulations in place today and for the foreseeable future.

